

Building structure of residential house to be finished in Hermigua.

Description: This old Canarian house was built with flat roof construction. It has been partially rebuilt and restored. The interior works are still missing.

The front is facing the street. Behind the house there is a large terrace and a garden area. From the flat roof you can enjoy beautiful views over the valley down to the sea.

There are 8 rooms in the house. It could be turn into a nice apartment house with one or two flats or a little hostel. Its central location in Hermigua is ideal for this.

Location: The house is situated in Hermigua, a beautiful green valley in the north of the island. It lies approximately in the middle of the extense valley. The sea is just 5 minutes by car and the nearby nature park, 15 minutes.

Hermigua stands out for its mild and soft climate.
